REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. Claims 1-12, 15, 20, 23-28 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:
3. The closest pieces of prior art are Kepecs (US6330543), Walker et al (US5794207) as well as the generally accepted notion that user fees are known to be authorized or charged to users whereby if a purchase is subsequently made, the fees are refunded or ignored. Kepecs teaches a centralized host where users register and/or log in and browse a subset of offers which are targeted to them (having parameters that are deemed to match their user profile/parameters/desires). Users indicate a request for a particular offer and then an offer (taken to be an electronic notification/certificate) is delivered whereby they may redeem the chosen offer at a retail location. While the agreed-upon notion that users can agree to service/opportunity fees if a related purchase is not subsequently made, the Board disagreed with the examiner's rejection which attempted to combine as obvious such a fee concept with that of Kepecs and Walker ('207). Therefore independent claim 1 which requires a identified/registered user to choose an incentive from a selection of incentives, agreement and delivery of fee payment information as well as the delivery of the committed incentive to the user is allowed over the above mentioned and most relevant art. Claim 7 similarly requires the fee payment information concept as well as at least the features of claim 7. Claims 23 and 26 also requires the fee concept (user provides a fee/fee information in association with a particular offer whereby the incentive offer is contingent on the identified purchase). Claims 15 and 20 lack the requirement for fees, but include the claimed details of matching available offers to a user based upon an updated database of incentive parameters as well as user-requested incentive parameters, a user request for a particular offer as well as the comparison of the relevant updated parameters to determine issuance or non-issuance of the offer. These features as a whole have been determined to be unobvious given the teachings of Kepecs and Walker ('207).

4. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- WO9951031 is a representative foreign document with teachings for downloadable targeted user coupons, yet does not appear to teach the shortcomings of Kepecs or Walker ('207).
